

Budgeting

Information for residents, staff and volunteers

Why is budgeting important?

In hard times it can be difficult to make ends meet. This makes it important to plan ahead. Not managing your money can get you into money problems and debt. Debt can cause you stress, damage your relationships and put your home at risk. If you have money worries confront them now to avoid bigger problems in the future.

What is a budget?

A budget is a plan that shows how much money you have and how you spend it, so that you don't spend too much. You can do a weekly or a monthly budget, but don't mix weekly and monthly amounts, as the budget will not be right! This is what you should do:

- Write down all of your income and add it up to get the total income.
- Then list your outgoings (costs) and add them all up to get your total outgoings.

If your total for outgoings is more than your total for income you need to make changes to your budgeting: try to increase your income or reduce your costs. Learning to live within a set budget may be the only way for you to have enough money to live on and pay your bills. Use the tips below for help and also visit www.newcastle.gov.uk/welfarerights.

What bills should you pay first?

Always pay the following bills first: rent, mortgage, gas, electricity, council tax, TV licence, Magistrates Court fines and child support. We call these bills priority debts because the consequences of late payments can be serious: you can lose your home, have your fuel supply cut off or even be sent to prison. If you are behind on these bills you must negotiate repayments for them quickly to prevent a crisis. Work out what you can offer to pay monthly or weekly and contact the billing company. If you need help negotiating affordable repayments for your priority debts contact Newcastle City Council's Money Matters team on 0800 1707 008 between 8.30am and 12.30pm Monday to Friday.
